To whom it may concern,

I have known Ms. Sara Levy for the past seven months. Ms. Levy was a student of mine in the Principles of medication administration course at Long Island University School of Nursing in Brooklyn, New York. Ms. Levy was a superb student. She worked well with her fellow students in the lab. Ms. Levy always conducted herself in a professional manner. She actively participated in class. Ms. Levy was able to effectively solve all problems in medication administration. She was able to perform all skills required in an above superb manner. The skills required in the course included administration of intramuscular and subcutaneous injections as well as IV therapy maintenance. She demonstrated wonderful leadership skills in the class. Ms. Levy always helped other students solve difficult medication problems.

I would, without hesitation, recommend Ms. Levy for an intern position or acceptance to do graduate work. She will, one day, contribute nicely to the nursing profession. Ms. Levy deserves without question a scholarship to advance her nursing career. If you have any questions please feel free to contact me.
